ELECTRIC LINE MAY BE CONSTRUCTED

Alex Cameron, D. J. McIntyre
and Other Local Business Men Hold Charter.

For some time the business men of the Pass towns have been seriously considering the advisability of forming a local company and operating a street railway themselves. But as a result of negotiations last week of outside promoters it may in all probability be backed by either the C. P. R.
or Mackenzie and Mann. In any case
A. Cameron and D. J. McIntyre hold the charter and if a local company could finance the proposition it would be far more remunerative to the people of the Pass, as the net profits would not doubt, be split in the Pass.
The present intention of the promoters is to build a line north of the C.P.
R. track from Bellevue to Coleman.
Extensions east and west will be made as the business warrants. There is, no doubt, but that Fernie and Lethbridge will be connected by a trolley line within five years. The building of this road cannot but be of great importance to Coleman.

Frank Notes

J. D. S. Barrett was a visitor at Frank last Saturday.

The skating rink at Frank is in good shape and as a result Frank will have a hockey team.

"Bob" McMillan, coal inspector for the C. P. R. at Frank, left Wednesday
for a trip to his home in Winnipeg.

Several freight cars were demolished
last Sunday at Bellevue, owing to a collision with a caboose. No one was injured.

Eugene Schurr, manager of the A. V.
Lodge, spent Sunday evening for a few days at Coleman.

George Crickshank, of the T. M.
Burnett Grocery store of Frank, left for Chesley on Saturday evening.
During his absence G. Crickshank will fill the position. It is reported that Mr. Crickshank will not come back alone.

If you are suffering from biliousness,
constipation, indigestion, chronic headache, invest one cent in a postal card, send to Chamberlain's Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, with your name and address plainly on the back,
and they will forward you a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Sold by all dealers.

WHAT THE "HARNSWORTH" OF THE PASS HAVE DONE

There are always a few self assertive individuals in every town who imagine a newspaper is only operated to spread gossip. The papers of the Poothills Job Print and News company do not pose as disseminators of gossip or hear-tales. Their main object is to speak out for the public good.

Although it is almost impossible for a paper single-handed to achieve reforms and institute new establishments, yet a passing glance over this year's work cannot but convince the most egotistical observer that a paper
has a recognised function to perform.
Following are a few of the questions that we have taken up and some in the initiative are:

Settlement of the strike.
The Soo-flyer to stop at Coleman.
Annexation of Slav town.
Better road to cemetery.
Greater industries established.
Improvements to Pass roads.
Electric line from Cowley to Crow's Nest.

Road to the South Fork.
Incorporation of Coleman as a town.
A greater Board of Trade.
Institution of a Canadian Club.
An isolation hospital.

A great number of the above questions have been settled, but there are a few of them, which although not settled, that are of such supreme importance that their being carried out
is now inevitable.

The baths at the Sanitarium have a peculiar effect on some people. It is said that the sulphur enters the pores of the body is thence taken to the heart, and from there by arteries and capillaries to the minute tissues of the body. Once here, it stimulates through every tube and duct, causing acute legitis.

Happenings of Interest In and Around Coleman

F. E. Hinds and H. E. Lyon were in town this week on a business visit.
O. N. Ross spent Christmas in Fernie and returned last Sunday evening.

Rev. T. M. Murray's subject for next Sunday in the evening is "A New Year Program."

WANTED—Bright boy, fifteen or over, to learn printing. Apply to the Coleman Miner.

WANTED A young woman for Dining Room work. Good wages paid.
Apply at the MINER office.

O. N. Ross reports that one of his men shovelled 72 tons of coal from a wagon into coal cars in one day.

A RECORD—It has been officially reported that six men drank 22 mugs of beer as a beverage on Christmas day in Coleman.

F. J. Kirkpatrick, T. B. Brandon
and Milton Ross spent Christmas day in Fernie at Mr. Kirkpatrick's house.
They returned on Sunday evening.

J. S. Volume of Fernie, came in on Wednesday's train and spent Thursday in Coleman and Blairmore.
His visit foreshadows a coming event.

W. A. Martin, W. J. Gilbert, A. C.
Beach and T. B. George, of Frank,
were in Coleman this week to attend
the Masonic banquet.

The Opera House was filled on Saturday evening when Brown's moving pictures were put on. The pictures were showed up very clear and the large audience was well pleased.

J. D. S. Barrett was a visitor at Blossomwood ranch last Sunday.
Blossomwood ranch is the property of Mark Brown and there is perhaps no more home-like place in the Pass.

New Year's eve. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at the celebration and it is intended to be used towards the building fund of their new hall.

A sprained ankle will usually disable the injured person for three or four weeks. This is due to lack of proper treatment. When Chamberlain's Liniment is applied a cure may be effected in three, or four days.

The services in St. Alban's Church
on Sunday next will be as follows:
Services and celebration of Holy Communion at 11 A. M. Sunday School at 2:30 P. M.; evensong and sermon at 7
P. M.

The peculiar properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have been thoroughly tested during epidemics of influenza, and when it was taken in time we have not heard of a single case of pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

His Lordship Bishop Pinkham is to visit this parish in the feast of the Epiphany to induct Mr. MacMorris into the parish. There will be the induction services, with celebration of Holy Communion and address by the Bishop at 10 A. M. on that day Thursday January 8th.

Rev. T. M. Murray visited Macleod on Tuesday to attend the Presbytery meeting called to consider resignation of Rev. A. Walker of that place. Mr.
Walker leaves soon to go on an extended cruise to the Mediterranean and the Old Land.

Many persons find themselves affected with a persistent cough after an attack of influenza. At this cough can be promptly cured by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It should not be allowed to run on until it becomes troublesome. Sold by all dealers.

Notice has been given by Returning Officer Oulmette that a meeting of the electors of the village of Coleman will be held at the council chambers in the Fire Hall on the third day of January, 1910 from eight o'clock P. M. until ten o'clock P. M. of the said day for the purpose of nominating candidates for councillors for the said village of Coleman for the ensuing year.

The Helping Hand Brotherhood extend a cordial invitation to all to be present at a social gathering to be held in the Institutional Church to-night at 8 o'clock. A program is being arranged and refreshments will be served and a pleasant and profitable time is expected. Young men especially are invited. A waltz night service will be held after the social which will begin at 11 o'clock. All are invited.

INTERNATIONAL CON- TINUES TO DEVELOP

Another Slope Will Be Sunk In
The Main Mine—Output
Will be Increased.

All doubts now as to the International ever ceasing work have been rapidly dispelled this week by the statement which is given below.

"The International Coal & Coke company of Coleman is preparing to sink a slope in its main mine. During the year the work of driving crosscuts between Nos. 2 and 4 seems to afford station room for the storage of cars from the slope and pass-bys has been in progress. This is now completed and the sinking of slope No. 4 will begin about the first of the year. The slope will be sunk about 500 feet in from the portal of the main entry and will enable the company to work the coal below the level of the present working tunnels of both seams. It will be the means of vastly increasing the company's already big output."

This statement ought to set aside at once any further false reports that have been scattered throughout the towns of the Pass.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY

For some time the question of an outlet for the South Fork has been discussed throughout the Pass and it is at last receiving the attention and prominence it should. There has already been too much apathy on the part of the business men of the Pass on this question and if another opportunity is let slip the prospects for the towns of Coleman and Blairmore securing the trade of the South Fork will be lamentably small.

About four miles of a fair road has already been completed and if the trail were widened and graded for ten miles southward it would reach the heart of the rich mining country of the South Fork. The ten miles which remains to be built will cost about six hundred dollars a mile as there is a good trail now and there are few culverts to be erected.

The other possible roads which will be serious rivals, would be the Flynn Creek trail and the Passburg road. Both of these are roundabout and cover twice the distance as the Blairmore road. With the terminals at Passburg or Hinescrest where would the trade of the South Fork remain?

There is no doubt but that if the business men of Blairmore and Coleman built this road that the government would keep it in repair. There is no doubt, that if the road is built from Blairmore that both Coleman and Blairmore will reap tremendous benefits, as from the trade indications now, Coleman is fast getting her share. The Miner would like to see a representative public meeting called and this question fully discussed as the time is short and the opportunity a welcome one.

A SATISFACTORY SOLUTION

The Coleman Miner has recently been the recipient of a number of views from the more prominent members of the Canadian Union. With unreserved satisfaction we do not hesitate to publish these views with the hope that they may throw more light on the situation that has been created.

The introduction of a protesting element in the ranks of the U.M.W. of America was due solely to the predominating idea of a large number of their members claiming that socialism should go hand in hand with labor. It may do so, but the members who were not socialists objected strongly and rightly too that their funds or fees should never be used except for labor's cause. The socialists in the union transgressed in this case and created a breach which caused a clear division.

It is a well known fact that the funds of the U.M.W. of America were used for political purposes. No right thinking person could be censured for resenting this piece of political jobbery. When the strike came the funds ran low. Did those who profited by the aggrandizement of the funds come to the aid of the strikers? No, and their voice was faint and weak.

The members of the Canadian Union wish it to be stated that they are willing to return to the fold if only a wish by the old members is expressed in a resolution that no more funds shall be devoted for political purposes. The Miner hopes that a resolution to this effect will be passed immediately and harmony and confidence once more restored amongst all sections of the labor men. Above all let there be one union.

HOME RULE

When Premier Asquith announced that home rule was one of the planks in his platform he swung into line the solid Irish vote. No true follower of the late Gladstone or statesman of the Liberal school can conscientiously withhold from following a policy of true democratic principles. On these democratic principles liberalism is founded. To withhold from a nation the right to govern itself is a policy and relief of the middle ages. Every state should govern and manage its own internal affairs.

In making the home rule prominent in this campaign, the liberal if returned will be justified in bringing in a measure similar to the British North America Act which granted provincialhood. Irish affairs will then be discussed by Irish representatives in an Irish assembly. Scottish affairs could be managed by a Scottish assembly. Matters pertaining to the British Isles would, as they are now, left to the hands of imperial representatives.

A home rule bill besides assisting in the better government of Ireland, would remove much clumsy and diverse legislation from the Hansard of the British House of Commons. It is ridiculous to think, that the states in South Africa were granted autonomy with a federal parliament as well, and Ireland which gave so much proof of its loyalty in that war, is denied what she is entitled to give to others of another nationality.

KOREA AGAIN

For the amount of blood that has already been shed over Korea, it must be a land as rich in gold as it is in flowers. China for a long time courted the Koreans but Japan was too strenuous a rival to permit the courtship becoming definite at all. Russia for a time had its darkened paw on the country and now Japan herself is, with much eastern diplomacy seeking to found a Japanese colony there.

The truth of the matter is Korea is worth fighting for. It has undeveloped coal fields, rich deposits of iron and a climate and a soil that can produce grain and fruits more abundantly than either of her neighbors as far as her acreage is concerned.

Korea's people are sadly lacking in political stamina, otherwise she would have asserted herself before or at least kept back in a measure the thirty hordes of covetous neighbors. Russia, it is now feared, is again massing troops in northern Manchuria presumably to check Japan's encroachment in Manchuria but in reality to draw Japan off from Korea. The possibility of another eastern war is again extremely imminent. The question which many Britishers are now asking themselves is, what attitude must Britain adopt if the war is reopened?

EDITORIAL NOTES

The one important point about turning a new leaf is keeping it turned.

The U. P. R. has no benches for newspaper men, consequently no journalists will be there as the U. P. R. has the right-of-way.

We hope no one will be so skin-skinned as to think that our delay in getting out the special is a dodge on our part to evade the tax collector.

The poor newspaper man is worse off than even a doctor. The doctor has to listen to at least twenty complaints and aches a day but the paper man is aching for a complaint, of the other fellow.

With a war imminent in the Orient, a family quarrel in South America and a street railway line in contemplation in the Pass, a lot of people will be immune from the attacks of their neighbors until everything is settled satisfactorily.

Lille Jottings

Mr. and Mrs. B. Green of Blairmore, were visitors to Lille on Tuesday.

Miss Lillian Thomas is a visitor for Christmas holidays with Mrs. F. M. Pinkney.

Lille can now boast of a first class skating rink, second to none in the Pass. "Look out oh ye creek hockey teams."

Mr. A. Hind, the new manager of the Lille Hotel arrived last week to succeed Mr. B. L. Griffiths who has left for Pincher City.

Mr. M. McRitchie and family are leaving this week for Diamond City, where he has secured a position with the Diamond Coal Co.

The Rev. W. Armstrong, late of Diamond City, at present the guest of Coroner Pinkney, leaves this week to take over the pastorate of the Penoka Baptist church.

What might have turned out a fatal accident occurred on Friday, when the infant son of Mrs. McNeil accidentally fell into a tub of water. The timely assistance of friends until the doctor arrived, was successful in restoring the little one.

The Christmas tree and entertainment which took place on Christmas Eve was a decided success. The total value of presents was $315 which was a record amount for any camp. The chairman was the esteemed Superintendent, W. P. Williams. Mr. F. Wright acted in the capacity of Santa Claus in a splendid manner. The rendering of the program by the young people speaks well for the high training of Miss Norton. Several names were also rendered by residents of the camp. The instrumental selections given by Mr. William's family and Mr. J. Prentice were of a high order and were much appreciated by the audience. Mr. F. Reid gave a splendid exhibition of various national dances. A happy evening was brought to a fine close by singing the national anthem.

J. B. Morrow, who has had charge of the day school here the past year, has resigned, and left here last week on a holiday.

Mrs. M. A. S. Herron, who has been spending some time at the home of her son, returned to Montana this week.

A banquet was given at the Cowley Hotel Christmas Day. Supper was served to over one hundred guests. Many of musical and vocal talent were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

A meeting of the ratepayers of this district is called to take place in the office of Tweedy Bros. on January 6th for the purpose of electing a school trustee and discussing other matters of general importance.

The hockey match which took place Monday afternoon between country and town boys resulted in a victory for the townsmen of 3 to 0. Owing to the high wind it was difficult to put up a good game, but all through great tact was displayed by both sides.

William Whyte, brother of Alex. Whyte, of Mountain Mill, arrived in Cowley last week from Douglas, Man. Mr. Whyte spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. Doubt, and on Sunday paid a visit to the old house at Mountain Mill. He left Tuesday on an extended trip through B. C.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

W. L. Bridgeford has just received a large consignment of fruit.

T. W. Davies is erecting a large frame building so as to house his new hearse and other vehicles.

Yai Lee, our popular Chinook restaurateur, is prepared to serve food turkeys with smoking cocoa since the dawn of New Year.

William Evans announces that he will be a candidate for the council, if there are any new contestants. If any fail to appear he would be pleased to see the old council elected. William will make a good councillor.

COLONIAL PLAYERS POOR COLONIALS

The Colonial players who played or misplayed the "Rajah" in the Opera House on Wednesday left town with less money than they brought. The "Rajah" must be a peculiar being or else the comic actors and actresses failed to bring out his good smoking points. Altogether the play was a mild farce, coupled with a few outbursts of raw enthusiasm on the part of the rajah himself. W. J. Bartlett, editor of the Cowley Chronicle was amused by their Hindustani language.

Modern Methods Prevail on the S Farms.

The days of hand sheep-shearing are almost over in Australia. All small sheds have sheep-shearing machines, driven by steam or electricity. Whether the shearer uses hand shears or machines, the work is most arduous. A tradition of the industry, which has been passed on to the younger generation, is that the shearer should be able to shear a sheep in less than 10 minutes.

ity is based on the fact that the sheep is off the sheep the better makes great speed an essential. Yet, also, great care is necessary for the wool must be cut in one and the same possible, the sheep or the staple the more valuable the wool—and the sheep, of course, will not be injured. A few scratches on the sheep have no effect on the wool, but a shearer who seriously wounded many sheep would be charged as incompetent.

Marvellous is the quickness of the shearer. In a few minutes a hundred sheep in a day of eight hours is a fair average for good shepherds. Some men can double that score. At the price is from $5 a hundred to $10 to the shearer. The high-priced shearer, for the Australian shearer is probably the prize worker

The world shorn—its value over 75% of Australia reaching to the 175 tons of gold it is packed with in the streets of Melbourne, for sale at Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, or Brisbane, or for direct export to the great markets of the world.

The fine merino sheep needs a dry climate to grow its wool to perfection. The wool is the most costly in the hot belt; but some of the station homesteads, though some are on the coast, are on the railway, manage to surround their wool refiners luxury.

Water is brought from a river, and the land is covered with flowers, grapes, oranges, lemons, and many sub-tropical fruits. The soil is rich, and the Broad, deep verandahs, the surrounding lawns, the double roofs and walls miss the fierceness of the sun's heat, and the sheep are able to remain in the penit for weeks at a stretch.

Thus winter climate of these inland parts is splendid, like that of Egypt.

Farms from the Water

The face of the country of Europe has been materially altered by human effort. Of the tillable land of Holland 90 per cent has been wrested from the sea, and in Great Britain a work scarcely less has been done, for a third of the present tillable land was once a lake and marshes in the time of King Alfred. In the United States, where the work of reclaiming is just beginning, it is estimated that drainage will add 200,000 square miles to the farm land.

OLD STUDENTS' PRANKS.

They Were More Ingenious in the Earlier Days.

The recent fusa at the University recalls some of the truly formidable student doings of past years. What must Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and other members of the class of 1887 think of a celebration in which a trolley rope was pulled, a lawn mower injured, and a few garments destroyed? What must they think of expulsion and other dire penalties for these comparatively harmless hoodlums, vrologues?

Those who spent their childhood in Toronto in the eighties will remember the two commo given to the city after the Crimen war by the British Government. They stood in Queen's Park just where the monument to Sir John Macdonald is now located and pointed down Queen's avenue. They are now placed on either side of the entrance to the Parliament buildings, but escape general attention. One night, over twenty years ago, the residents of the city were awakened by a deafening roar. Every house, people in night caps thrust their heads from windows, wondering what the end of the world had come. Then it was remembered that it was the night of the wise old bird.

Next morning it transpired that the students had unsnipped those two trolley ropes, and the result was a gunpowder and old boots, and had touched them off. It was lucky that there was no one in Queen's avenue at the time, and that the trolley were not of long-range character. There were no casualties; not a student had even a finger burnt. The identity of the ringleaders, one of whom was Beattie Nesbitt, was kept a close secret, and the professional men who are losing their hair, bowed of having taken part in his misdeeds, are now ten years younger in telling about it.

Old University graduates also relate how a gentleman, now a prominent clergyman in the United States, went down on his knees to a committee of students appointed to deal with his case, to save his position. The orders were that one half of it was to be sacrificed, and that he was to appear before the committee on the other side of his mouth so adorned. It was a very beautiful golden moustache of a kind rare at the University, and the committee had accepted one act of sacrifice instead. And then there was the occasion when the students, by some means or other took the caretaker's cow up to the tower of University Hall, and, as it was seemingly impossible as the building of the pyramids, and left the poor beast there bellowing her troubles to the winds.

It was only when the students commenced to destroy property other than the cow, that the University took notice of the town and gown troubles in this city. In those good old days, however, the students did not and everybody relied a bit of riot, whatever the occasion. The pranks of the students were not of their flavor of originality, and are apt to be noid, unimaginative, and destructive, and carried beyond their own campus.

Don't Know Mr. Gompers.

Mr. Samuel Gompers and party occupied boxes at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, one night recently, as guests of the management. Their conversation was of the British and American flags, and Mr. Gompers, with his little round silk cap, his white hair, and his sideburns, was a very clean-shaven countenance attracted no little attention. Of course, there were some people in the house who did not know who he was the High Priest of Trades Unionism in America, but they realized that he must be a High Priest of some sort. This led to considerable discussion between sets, and after the performance, in a street car, the writer overheard a conversation on the subject which was very much more amusing than it can be made to appear on paper.

A gentleman, accompanied by two ladies, remarked to one of his companions:

"See you didn't know who Gompers was, eh?"

"No," she replied, "all I could remember was that he had a beard that was that he ought to be in jail—oughtn't he?"

Then up spoke the other lady:

"You say he's the president of the American Federation of Labor. Why, I thought Mr. Mackenzie King was head of all the labor people in Canada."

TRICKING A BANKER.

Ingenuous Fraud Was Worked on a London Manager Recently.

Shortly after the audacious fraud perpetrated by the too-famous "D. S. Windell," it was announced that "additional safeguards" had been decided upon by the London authorities. That this step was necessary is illustrated by the following story:

A customer having a fairly good balance, never sinking below a few hundred pounds, at a branch of a well-known bank, hurried in one morning not so long ago, according to The Pall Mall Gazette, and asked to see the manager.

The usual civilities were exchanged, and the caller explained that he was making a rather good investment, and had promised to pay $5,000 the next day.

"Well," said the manager, "there's no difficulty about that." "Precisely," was the rejoinder. "But will you do me a small favor?" "What is it?" queried the manager. "I want my friend to see that my paying him $5,000 will not exhaust my resources. Will you, therefore, oblige me by instructing all the pay clerks (and they were five) to be on hand when I check, without referring to the ledger to see how my account stands. It will make a good impression on the bank, and I cannot do you any harm, as you know what my balance is." It was a little over $5,000.

"Certainly, if you particularly wish it," replied the unsuspecting manager. He then asked the customer's name, and on the book, and there had never been any trouble with him.

When the check was presented the next day, the manager's clerk, the clerk, without going through the formality of referring to the customer's account, pleasantly inquired, "How will you make it?" and handed over the amount without ado.

In the meantime the same little ceremony was being gone through by four other pay clerks, each clerk, acting upon instructions, cashing Mr. Windell's check for $5,000, making $25,000 in all, or nearly $20,000 in excess of the wily customer's balance!

And, of course, when Mr. Windell's polite note requesting him to call at the bank, he was not to be found.

FLY ON GLADSTONE'S NOSE.

The Grand Old Man Showed to Poor Advantage in the Lantern.

I remember once (says Harry Furniss, in The Strand Magazine), when I was giving lectures on the great orator, past and present, and illustrating the portraits on medals with the aid of a lantern. I came to one near the bottom of the screen.

"Here," said I, "we have the Lord Mayor of London, Mayor of London, 1800 A.D." At that moment, the mayor and mayors of the town, who, by my supposition, had come in to see the lantern, came to see the lantern, and were, of course, shown on the screen, and, as can be seen, a little note of effect that had not been anticipated.

On another occasion a fly was on the grand old man, giving a lecture, with the aid of a lantern. I was showing some portraits of Mr. Gladstone in my entertainment, "The Mayor of Parliament." I was telling my audience, as I pointed to the pictures on the screen, that one moment, when the fly was on the screen, it was a great burst of laughter. I proceeded to speak about Gladstone's flying eye and nose, and by the time I mentioned something about his aquiline nose, a loud picture was being thrown on the screen. I turned round, and was at first horrified, and then I saw the fly was walking on the nose of the Grand Old Man. It appears that the fly had got into the lantern, and was being magnified a hundredfold on the screen.

When Bribery Prevailed.

English Parliamentary elections are not altogether free from corruption. Worcester was for a time disfranchised after the King George III. election, on account of the irregularities found to have been prevalent, and other constituencies had a rough time before they were secure of their respective members.

But the old-time elections were altogether different. The majority of the Reform Bill, which purposed the abolition of bribery, was by no means universal. In the Times of May 10, 1832, there is a story of a London police-constable who asked his inspector for leave to go into the country to vote for an anti-Reform candidate. He explained that he would get $50 and his expenses for his vote; but the inspector said that it was not the money in former times, when he had had as much as $200, and never less than $125.

And if that Reform Bill passed it was a loss to me and my brother reformer," he added.
